ROBERT'S RULES OF ORDER

What is parliamentary procedure?

A set of rules for conduct at meetings, which allows everyone to be heard and to make decisions without confusion.

Why is it important?

It's a time-tested method of conducting business at meetings and public gatherings. It can be adapted to fit the needs of any organization and still serves as the basic guide for operation for most clubs, organizations, and associations.

The basics

HAVING THE FLOOR: Having a member speak at a meeting. S/he must be recognized by the chairperson. Once recognized, the speaker cannot be interrupted except by the chairperson.

MAKING MOTIONS: One makes a motion to propose a course of action that one thinks the group should take. If another member agrees that the motion should be open for discussion, s/he will second the motion. Discussion pertaining only to the motion can be discussed at this time. Only one motion can be on the floor at a time. A motion to close discussion and a second are needed before a vote can be taken.

AMENDING MOTIONS: Amendments to a motion can be made as long as the person who has moved the original motion is agreeable to the amendment. If the originator of the motion is not agreeable, then the group must vote on the original motion.

TABLING MOTIONS: If it appears that more information is needed to consider a motion fairly, then a motion to table the discussion can be made. The length of, and reason for, tabling the motion must be included in the table to motion. A majority of members must support the tabling in for it to pass.

CALLING THE QUESTION: When it appears that the discussion of a particular motion is no longer productive, the question can be called with a two-thirds vote of the call to a question is an immediate vote on the motion.
